

Pablo Blanco Sarto is a priest, philologist, philosopher, and theologian, with a doctorate in the latter two disciplines. He has dealt with aesthetics and hermeneutics, relations between faith and reason, ecumenism, and the theology of the sacraments. He is a member of the editorial committee of Ratzinger's works in Spanish. He is a consultant on ecumenism at the Spanish Episcopal Conference and has received the Ratzinger Prize in 2023. He currently teaches theology at the University of Navarra.